Dear Sir/Madam,

You may be aware that Department of Science and Technology (GOI, New Delhi) has set up five Centres for Policy Research (CPR) in India to formulate policies for the promotion and strengthening of Science, Technology and Innovation (STI)-2013 Policy of India.

2. One such Centre has been established at Panjab University (PU), Chandigarh (<http://cpr.puchd.ac.in>). The mandate of PU-CPR is to collect data on the Industry-Academia (I-A) interface of each university, stimulate I-A interactions with particular emphasis on strengthening R&D between these two sectors and increased investment of private sector in public funded Higher Education Institutes.

3. This information is vital and unfortunately no reply from your university has been received by PU-CPR so far.

4. I write this to request you to personally impress upon the concerned person of your university to supply the information to Prof. Tewari, Coordinator, DST-Centre for Policy Research, Panjab University, Chandigarh by email: dstprc2014@pu.ac.in or by post as per the Performa enclosed herewith.

With kind regards,

Yours sincerely,

(Jaspal S. Sandhu)
